ALREADY IN PRISON.

The Murderers of Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Davis Found.
(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
JAMESTOWN (N. Y.), Oct. 13.—A rumor is current that detectives have traced the murder of Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Davis, in Buell last December, to the hands of Emmet Bittles and three companions, who, with him, were recently arrested and convicted of torturing an old woman near Union City, Pa. They are now serving time in a Pennsylvania penitentiary for a crime which was committed shortly after the Sherman-Davis murders.
The rumor says that a chain of evidence is being forged which will implicate these men in the murders, and show that the others of the same gang were here at the same time. Bittles was well-known in this city, and he and his pals quite frequently visited here, always in a quiet and mysterious way, and the theory is that he and his companions knew of the intentional absence of the Sherman family from home on the afternoon of the day that the murders were committed.

A Deadly Duel.

CINCINNATI (O.), Oct. 13.—A special from Gloucester, Mass., says that David Cook, City Marshal, was attacked on the street tonight by ex-Marshall Donnelly, who, from an old grudge, fired at Cook. Both fell dead ten feet apart. Cook with four balls in his breast and Donnelly with a bullet through his heart.

FRENCH VALOR.

It Succeeds in Madagascar Against Determined Opposition.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(By Atlantic Cable.) A dispatch received here from Mojang, Madagascar, says that the fighting prior to the occupation by the French of Antananarivo, the capital of Madagascar, on September 20, was of a very determined character. The engagement was fought over ground which extended nine miles right up to the capital. The artillery fire resulted in the royal palace being struck by a shell.

President Faure today attended a grand kerfess in the machinery gallery in the Champs de Mars, the occasion being the opening of the fetes in honor of the Madagascar victory. Gen. Duchesne, commander of the Madagascar expedition, has telegraphed to the government some of the details of taking Antananarivo. He says that several smart engagements which were fought on September 29 and 30 brought him to Isafy. On September 30 he attacked the heights east of Antananarivo. "Two columns under Gens. Emellinger and Voynon," the report continues, "engaged Hoght, and after a fight, captured the heights. The Malagasy detachments at the palace and north of the Capitol having opened fire, I commenced to bombard, when the Malagasy came back to ask us to suspend hostilities. I made an official entry to the city the next morning and the treaty of peace was signed and ratified by the Queen in the evening, our loss being six killed and fifty wounded. The behavior of the troops was beyond praise."

A BRILLIANT ATTACK.

PORT LOUIS (Island of Mauritius), Oct. 13.—Word has been received here that the French made a brilliant attack upon and captured the Hovas' works at Farafatra, Madagascar, on October 12.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Porte has appointed a commission to inquire into the recent Armenian arrests and has promised the powers to deal severely with any one who is found to have tortured the Armenians in prison. Many persons were killed and wounded in the recent disturbances in the Ismid district, southeast of Constantinople in Asia Minor, but order has been restored. The town of Ismid has been restored. The town of Ismid has been captured by the city of Lan-Chau, the capital of the province.

An Artist's Model Served Up at a Stag Feed.

Noted New York Bohemians are Treated to a Very Pretty Surprise.

When the Pantry Was Opened the Crowd Rushed to the Banquet Dish and Frit to Set Before a King—The Sequel.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(Special Dispatch.) Susie Johnson, the handsome daughter of an East Side mechanic, has disappeared. She is only 17 years old and for a year past has been posing for artists.

In connection with her disappearance a story is told of a $3500 dinner given last May, which eclipses anything ever attempted in New York Bohemian circles. The dinner was given in the famous studio of James L. Breese, No. 5 West Sixteenth street. Breese is an artist of national reputation, a member of New York's most exclusive society and on the walls of his rooms hang portraits of dozens of New York's wealthiest women and social leaders of the metropolis.

The dinner was given by Henry W. Poor, a Wall-street banker, to his friend, John Ellard Cowdin. Cowdin had been married just ten years and the happy idea occurred to Poor that the event should be appropriately celebrated. Mrs. Cowdin was absent in Europe. Breese kindly offered his studio for the banquet. There were thirty-two guests and the dinner cost $110 a plate.

The guests at this dinner were representative men from every walk of life. Some are famous the world over, and all have achieved distinction in some way or other. Cowdin is a noted polo player and he and Foxhall Keene divide the honors in that branch of sport. Breese is probably the most successful carbon photographer in the country.

Other guests were: Robert Bacon, the handsome six-footer, famous as a Harvard athlete; William T. Lawson, a banker; James Barnes, with Scribners, and considered one of the brightest young men of the literary world; R. Rudyard Grand, a man about town; Alfred S. Collins, a Boston artist of wide repute; A. Rutherford Mead, partner of Stanford White, the architect; J. Carroll Beckwith and J. Alden Weir, artists; Henry C. Mortimer, a Wall-street financier; Charles F. McKim, an architect; Augustus S. Gaudens, the sculptor; John Ames Mitchell, a journalist; Henry W. McKickar, society man; William Astor Chanler, the African traveler and explorer; Charles Dana Gibson, the well-known artist, and Nicola Testa, the electrician.

The list of invited guests, it can easily be imagined that the dinner was one long to be remembered. Thirty-three men and women sat down to the dinner. Two or three invited guests failed to appear, and others were substituted in their places. There was nothing to stamp the dinner as materially different from scores of similar Bohemian gatherings. There was to be a surprise, however, and Susie Johnson furnished it. It was just after coffee had been brought on. Most of the men were lighting their cigars. Suddenly there was a loud knocking at the door of the studio.

"Come in," was the response. The doors opened and six waiters entered, bearing what appeared to be a gigantic pie. The pie-bearers advanced solemnly down the center of the room, and after much shuffling of chairs, deposited their burden in the center of the table. It was apparently a beautiful pie of mammoth size, but not of ordinary shape, for it was in the form of a sphere. The crust was brown and flaky, and the aroma was delicious.

The head waiter solemnly advanced to the table, and with a quick movement, cut the crust of the pie with a silver knife. The pie divided as if by magic, and falling apart, disclosed Susie Johnson, the sixteen-year-old model. A great bevy of canaries, which had been inclosed with her, flew into the room and perched on the easels or pictures, wherever they could find refuge. Then there was a great shout, a tribute of applause to the man who had planned the surprise, and the young model was lifted from the table to the floor. She was dressed in flimsy black gauze. Perched on her head was a blackbird.

Quick as a flash, "Sing a Song of Sixpence" was struck up, and sung and recited. The pie was examined with due care, and it was found to be a sphere of galvanized iron, covered with a crust of pastry. The dinner was a great success, but a short time afterward Susie Johnson, the "pretty girl of the pie," disappeared, and it was through the endeavors of her heart-broken father to find her in his search among artists' studios that the story of the dinner came out.

Killed with a Cane.

UKIAH, Oct. 13.—A sad death occurred this afternoon. Several boys were teasing an old man named Wilson, when he became enraged and struck a boy named Willie Johnson on the head with a cane to drive his tormentors away. The blow was a severe one and Johnson died this afternoon. The deceased was an orphan and a ward of the county. Wilson has been lodged in jail.

THE KOREAN OVERTHROW

TAI WON KIN SUCCEEDS THE KING AS DICTATOR.

The Queen Slain by Japanese Soshi—A New Ministry Formed—Annihilation of the Queen Dowager Reported—Marines Ashore.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A special to the Herald from Seoul, Korea, says that the palace was broken into on Tuesday morning by a body of Korean troops and a band of Japanese soshi in civilian dress. The colonel in command of the troops, on refusing to enter the palace, was killed and a number of the guards were slain. The Japanese entered the Queen's room and killed the Queen, the minister of the household and three women. The bodies were burned. The Japanese troops were at the palace, but took no part in the proceedings.

Tai Won Kin, the King's father, reached the palace soon after the assault and assumed the chief authority. He is now dictator and is known to have been in the plot. The pro-Japanese party are in control. Many of the Queen's party have been arrested and many have fled. It is believed that the Queen Dowager was killed last night and that the King will be forced to abdicate. Guards from the United States steamship Yorktown and a Russian cruiser at Chemulpo have been ordered up. Great excitement prevails. It is thought that the butchery will hasten action on the part of Russia.

A later dispatch says that the plot to kill the Queen was made by Korean friends of Tai Won Kin and an irresponsible Japanese soshi. The Japanese troops were at the gates when the butchery took place. The King is now a prisoner and his father has been proclaimed dictator. A new cabinet has been constituted of pro-Japanese elements. The Queen's officials have fled, or are in hiding. Appeals have been issued to the Japanese. A Japanese soshi has been arrested for the murder of the Queen.

SOSHI RUFIANS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A cablegram to the World from Tokyo, Japan, says that persons wearing Japanese dresses and carrying Japanese swords were among the rioters who lately attacked the royal palace in Seoul, Korea. At first it was supposed they were Koreans, but now it is suspected that they were Japanese soshi, apparently hired ruffians. The Japanese government has ordered an inquiry.

The chief curator (prosecutor) of the court of Yokohama has been sent to Korea to direct the investigation. The Queen, it is believed, is dead. The Tai Won Kin is supreme. He has forced the King to issue a decree degrading his consort to the level of a concubine and outlawing her family. The foreign legations at Seoul are guarded by marines from the foreign warships at Chemulpo. All is quiet.

AFTER FOURTEEN YEARS.

An Escaped Convict Found to be Innocent—Paradise.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

TOPEKA (Kan.), Oct. 13.—Gov. Morrill has granted a pardon to Z. T. Campbell, who, fourteen years ago, was convicted in Osage county of robbing Wells, Fargo & Co. of $500 and sentenced to the penitentiary for eighteen months. The night before the sheriff was to have started for the penitentiary with a batch of prisoners, Campbell escaped and was never captured. He went to Salt Lake, where he has since resided, living an honest, upright life. He recently communicated with ex-Chief Justice Albert H. Horton in regard to his case. Judge Horton made an investigation, which convinced him that Campbell was innocent of the crime charged. He presented the case to the Governor, with the result as stated.

IN HOLY WRIT.

Modern Research Finds Many Flaws.

The Story of the Creation Only a Fairy Tale.

Science Wipes Out the Flood and Babel's Tower Goes Up in Smoke.

There May Have Been a Paradise Once Upon a Time and Excavations Locate It in Babylonia. Literary Age of Moses.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(Special Dispatch.) Those who take interest in the latest phrase of the question as to the scientific and historical accuracy of the Bible will find a mass of material of the highest importance in a series of papers presented by friendly experts to the annual Church Congress at Norwich.

Archaeological discoveries within the past few months have thrown a flood of light upon many disputed points. It is refreshing, at a time when such a bigot as Athelstan Riley has plunged the London school board into another disgraceful wrangle over the teaching of religious dogmas in public schools, to hear a scholar like Prof. Bowney, canon of Manchester, declare: "I cannot say that the increase of scientific knowledge has deprived us of a series of papers presented by friendly experts to the annual Church Congress at Norwich."

Archaeological discoveries within the past few months have thrown a flood of light upon many disputed points. It is refreshing, at a time when such a bigot as Athelstan Riley has plunged the London school board into another disgraceful wrangle over the teaching of religious dogmas in public schools, to hear a scholar like Prof. Bowney, canon of Manchester, declare: "I cannot say that the increase of scientific knowledge has deprived us of a series of papers presented by friendly experts to the annual Church Congress at Norwich."

The story of the creation in Genesis, unless we play fast and loose either with the words or with science, cannot be brought into harmony with what we have learned from geology. Its ethnological statements are imperfect, if not sometimes inaccurate. The stories of the flood and the Tower of Babel are incredible in their present form. Some historical element may underlie many of the traditions in the first eleven chapters of that book, but this we cannot hope to recover.

Theodore Pinches, the well-known archaeologist, described the discovery of the probable originals of the biblical legend of the creation. The position of Paradise was still uncertain, but time seems to have proved that Delitzsch's location of Paradise in Babylonia was correct. Eden was, in all probability, the name applied to a portion, if not the whole of Babylonia. Though the inscriptions of that country had not been fully deciphered, the Israelite tradition of a garden of Eden, further excavation would possibly find it. A text had been discovered which described a glorious city containing a dark vine filled with the fulness of fertility, the seat of the central place of this earth, called Eridu, and watered by the path of Ea, the God of Rivers.

Prof. Sayce dealt with a great mass of newly discovered material in recent excavations. He said: "From Egypt, Babylonia, Assyria, from Palestine itself, old literatures and inscribed monuments are pouring in, coeval with the age of the Bible. We now know that the Mosaic age in the east was a highly literary one, as literary, in fact, as the age of the Renaissance in Europe, and that it would have been a miracle if the Israelite tradition of a garden of Eden, had not shared in the general literary culture of the time. In the century before the exodus, active correspondence was constantly going on from the banks of the Nile to those of the Euphrates."

BRITISH MARKETS.

A Healthier Feeling on "Changes" Otherwise Dull.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

LONDON, Oct. 13.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The scare in the mining market has been the feature on the Stock Exchange, and has had the result of shaking out numerous weak operators, leaving the market altogether in a healthier condition. The collapse of prices was partially recovered, and should no further trouble arise over the currency settlement, a further advance is expected.

AN UNHAPPY COUPLE.

Prince Keknatoff's Wife Becomes Insane Through Want.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A beautiful young Russian Princess, Vera Keknatoff, who has been living in exile with her husband here, is insane and confined in Bellevue Hospital.

Prince Keknatoff, her husband, who belongs to a prominent family in Pollat, Russia, was exiled from his native town two years ago on account of connection with the Nihilists. His wife followed him a few months later. They secured rooms in the house of Dr. J. J. Sullivan, president of the Vigilance League. The Prince made several ineffectual attempts to obtain employment. The remittances he received every month from home barely supported him and his wife, and at last ceased. The rent became due, but Dr. Sullivan, knowing Keknatoff's history, was lenient with him and allowed him to retain his room. According to the doctor, the couple have frequently gone two or three days without food, being too proud to beg or to let their neighbors know of their unfortunate condition.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Motion for Admissions—The Government's Special Cases.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—In accordance with its usual custom, at the beginning of the October term, the United States Supreme Court will hear no motions tomorrow when it reassembles, except those for admission to the bar, but will sit on Tuesday to hear general motions. The majority of these usually take the form of motions to advance special cases, and the indications are that the present term will prove no exception. The government will have fifteen such motions, including one in the Judge Long pension case. It is possible that, besides hearing motions for admission on Monday, the President should arrive in Washington before the convening of the court there will be an early adjournment in order to permit of the usual informal call at the White House.

Nearly a carload of bicycle-racing men went to Santa Monica on the 9:05 train yesterday morning as the guests of the Southern Pacific Company, to try the new track. Capt. Steere was in charge of the party, both as the host and as a wheelman.

The racing men were accompanied by many friends and all were enthusiastic in praise of the Santa Monica track and training quarters.

A few minutes after the train pulled up alongside of the bicycle track the closure, a score of racing men were shooting around the curves and sprinting down the straight like a handicap race.

The Roamers' Road Club was represented by John Cowan and Will Jenkins on the team and by Fritz Lacy, James W. Cowan, Kinsey, Stauter, Martindale, Kuster, Mahstedt and others on singles.

Muzzey, Charlie Miller and Fritz Lacy were the East Side Cycling Club team, while the Los Angeles Wheelmen had a lone representative in Will Jenkins.

The new club, the Citrus Wheelmen, which showed up so well at the theater party Saturday night, had a representative in Phil Kitchin, Jr.

Emil Ulbricht, W. H. Hutton and H. E. McCrea were the members of the Bay City Wheelmen of San Francisco.

About two hours was spent in testing the track at all gaits and then most of the racing men returned on the 11:20 train, as many were to take part in the monthly five-mile road race of the Roamers, on their Cahuenga Valley course, in the afternoon.

Godfrey Schmidt and James Cowan, the class B men of the Roamers, are both suffering from bad falls on the dangerous quarter-mile track in this city, but they felt perfectly safe on the Santa Monica track and "worked out" most of the day, though still stiff.

The Roamers' class A tandem team and most of the class B men spent the day at the track at Santa Monica.

The grandstand and bleachers at the new track seat only 2000, and the criticism yesterday was that this was not half large enough for the crowds that will go there.

The race meet on the Santa Monica track next Saturday will probably draw together the largest crowd ever seen at a bicycle race meet in this part of the State.

A number of Northern riders will come down for the tournament.

One of the most exciting events will be the novice race, as both the Roamers and the East Sides have three men entered, and each club is anxious to carry off the glory of the event. The Roamers have won three sensational novice races this season, breaking a world's record in one, besides capturing second prize in several others.

THE ROAD RACE.
The second of the five-mile handicap road races which the Roamers' Road Club runs once a month, came off yesterday afternoon in Cahuenga Valley.

Rodriguez and Hewett were the scratch men, and both were mounted on new wheels with high gears for the occasion.

The course is around a square half a mile wide by three-quarters of a mile long, starting on Colegrove road at Western avenue, then across to Sunset boulevard and ending at Western avenue. Two trips around the square are exactly five miles.

The limit was four and a half minutes, as two men new to racing had the limit. A dozen riders started. Several entrants were at Santa Monica track, and others who were entered were unable to start from sickness or other equal inconveniences.

Hewett had his chain too loose, and it jumped sprockets at the start. Half way around he changed wheels. Rodriguez was altogether too much for the doughy Pasadena.

Tom F. Foree, one of the limit men, won, closely followed by the limit men, Stephenson, who started with him. Foree's net time was 17:02, and Stephenson's was three seconds slower.

Guillermo Rodriguez, the Duarte wonder, of course won time prize, his net time being 14:42.5.

Kinsey and Pratt tied for second time, both covering the five miles in 16:40 from the different marks, Rodriguez finishing seventh.

This race was the first one for the Roamers' trophy, which must be won three times as time prize before becoming the property of the winner.

The Roamers' Road Club, under command of Lieut. Martindale, had a regular run to the road race, leaving the Roamers' Olive-street clubhouse at 2 o'clock.

A delegation from the Times Bicycle Club rode out to see the road race, and Messrs. Goff, Jenkins and Field acted as judges for the race.

FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT.
Riverside Wheelmen Urging Sign-boards for All Cross-roads.

The Riverside Wheelmen, with their usual enterprise, are now booming good roads in a new direction. A circular has been sent out to prominent citizens all over Riverside county introducing a petition for sign boards at all cross-roads, worded as follows:

"To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Riverside County: We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of Riverside county respectfully request to your honorable board that a large part of our county is wholly without any device to mark the roads or the distance thereon, thereby causing travelers great annoyance and loss of time, and we believe that the placing of suitable sign boards at the intersection of all the principal roads in Riverside county would prove a profitable investment, and would be an evidence of the progressive spirit of our people; and we further believe it is due to the outlying towns and settlements that a stranger may be able to find his way over any of the roads of this county. We therefore most earnestly pray your honorable board to place proper sign boards wherever needed, on all the principal roads in the county, and we shall ever pray, etc., etc."

the good-roads campaign on this matter, now let the other bicycle clubs help along the good work throughout Southern California.

CYCLING THEATER PARTY.
The wheelmen's theater party at the Los Angeles Theater Saturday evening was not the success it would have been if the Pauline Hall Company had really cared to please wheelmen and wheelwomen.

The shrewd manager of the "Dorcas" company has been using the cycling experience of Pauline Hall to capture the dollars of the wheelmen. Not a word was said about the wheel during the three acts, and not one of the company were club colors.

The Citrus Wheelmen made a pretty appearance with four neat banners bearing the club emblem and name, purple ribbons, etc., decorating the boxes and loges occupied by twelve members of the club and their ladies.

The Los Angeles Wheelmen had several rows of seats adjoining the loges occupied by the Citrus Wheelmen, and placed their big banner above them. The East Side Cycling Club, the Roamers' Road Club, the Times Bicycle Club and the Los Angeles Road Club decided not to appear as clubs, though members of all of them occupied seats about the house.

A delegation from Pomona had seats in the center of the house, and wore badges bearing the word Pomona. The theater was about two-thirds filled.

CORBETT'S COURAGE.
It is Defended by a Boston Newspaper Writer.

Several weeks ago The Times printed a letter of correspondence from Dr. John Wilson Gibbs, in which the courage of Champion Corbett was called in question. Dr. Gibbs asserted that Corbett, instead of being a brave man, is the antipodes of this—in fact an arrant coward. This declaration of Dr. Gibbs has stirred up a vast amount of discussion, regarding the bravery or cowardice of the champion. A Boston newspaper man has the following to say upon the subject:

"I must say a word in defense of Corbett's courage. Dr. John Wilson Gibbs is the author of a rather lengthy and interesting article, in which he sets forth his reasons to prove (in his mind) that Corbett is a coward. He does not, theoretically, but as a matter of fact, that James J. Corbett is a coward."

"The physician claims that his cowardice is nothing more or less than a malady caused by excessive nervousness, causing nervous prostration which manifested itself just before any of his great battles, and on several occasions when the champion was assailed in public places, notably when Mitchell black-guarded him at Harry Miner's theater."

"In those days Corbett endeavored to refrain from personal encounters, but in time constant 'nagging' has made him somewhat irritable, and it is little wonder, admitting he is nervous, that he has only twice been in the ring at Jacksonville. On that occasion—and Mitchell was in fine form—Corbett made a plaything of him."

"Corbett is nervous before a fight, so was Dempsey, who fought Fitzsimmons, but his nervousness is of that quality that makes him all the better as a fighter, and if Fitzsimmons defeated him he won't do it because Corbett is a coward."

A DRAWN GAME.
Francis Wilson and Tribby Clubs at Athletic Park.

Lovers of baseball were treated to a magnificent exhibition of the game yesterday afternoon when the Tribby, champion colored club of the Coast, and the Francis Wilsons, who claim the championship of Southern California, played through thirteen innings with neither club ahead, when the game was obliged to be called on account of darkness.

Both Tyler and Shaw were very effective and pitched winning ball. The Tribby club put up the best game in the field. The Francis Wilson men were not up to their usual standard, their fielding being very ragged at times.

The features of the game were the all-round playing of Hart and the fielding of Solly, Moore and Laughlin, the latter making a double play unassisted. Whaling and Carroll each put up a good game behind the bat. The same teams will play again next Sunday, the winning team to take the stake money and the gate receipts of both games. The score of game is as follows:

FRANCIS WILSONS.

BOGAN AND FRASER.
Will Meet in Athletic Club Rooms Thursday Night.

Freddie Bogan and Jack Fraser, the featherweight boxers who were matched to fight before the Angel City Athletic Club on the 26th of last month, are to come together next Thursday night before the same club for a fifteen-round go. It will be remembered that Bogan was accused by Fraser's backers of attempting to "throw" the fight, and in consequence of this report and the sickness of Bogan, the match was postponed to the date which is now announced.

Bogan is training at San Pedro, under the direction of Jack Fogarty. Fraser is at Redondo, and is being coached by "Prof." Young Dutchy. The men are reported in good condition. They will not receive a purse, but will simply box for the championship of the Coast at catchweights. As a preliminary, Martin Murphy and "Prof." Dutchy will engage in a four-round set-to, which is certain to be a "gem." Both of these men are old-time favorites, and will show the younger pugilists how the manly art of self-defense should be conducted. The exhibitions given in the past by this club are a guarantee that nothing was a clean, scientific match will be conducted on Thursday evening.

MAGNIFICENT RACECOURSE.
The Ingleside Track is Rapidly Approaching Completion.

The question as to whether the new racetrack at Ingleside, near San Francisco, could be gotten ready to race by the 2nd of November as originally appointed, is now no longer an open one. They put on forty-two additional teams on Monday and Tuesday and the place now looks like Barnum's circus. All it wants is about a dozen elephants to haul the dump cars, and the picture would be complete.

The outlay on this track will not fall far short of $400,000 by the time the gates are thrown open for the reception of guests. Of this the sum of $22,000 goes into the big fill which constitutes the back quarter of the entire mile. This is the most expensive piece of engineering work ever done on any American racetrack, being 432 yards long, by 64 feet high and 200 feet wide on the base. Every Sunday the work has been stopped on all other parts of the track, but the big fill went along with the persistence of Tenyson's brook. The sound of the hammer and saw were still, but the patient mules told on, entirely oblivious of the fourth commandment. I was out there last Sunday and saw Mr. Allen taking the first breathing spell for many a day. He had just had an engineer measure the dump, and from his report he knew the less than twelve days' more work to be done on the most gigantic embankment made in all racing history.

The next thing after finishing the grandstand will be to lay off pretty little lawns and woodland paths about the track. The finishing touches to the grandstand will be put on in the next ten days, and it will be a thing of beauty. Instead of being placed parallel to the homestretch, it is set at an angle, so that spectators at the lower end can see the finish of an exciting race without rising in their seats. The betting ring and paddock will be the last buildings completed, and they will be finished in time.

The stables are on the south side of the course and will have accommodations for about six hundred horses. Cottages for the accommodation of harness and jockeys are well under way and the cooking of meals will be done in them, as the use of fire in the stables is prohibited. The roofs are like piazzas, so that horses can walk around in rainy weather without getting wet or catching cold. In a word, every possible precaution has been taken for the safety of man and beast, and if the trainers and jockeys who visit and the gladiators are not well satisfied with their new quarters, I can only say that they are really hard to please.

The introduction of longer races, so popular twenty years ago, will be one of the features of the new track. In addition to the two races of four miles and one of three miles that are given as sweepstake events, there will probably be four races of two miles and two of three miles given during the meeting for purse money.

The old time weight-for-age races will probably receive the attention of the club before the track has been opened very long. In this country these races have become almost obsolete, but in England and Australia there is a weight-for-age every day of the meeting, at distances varying from one mile to two and a quarter miles. Let an owner win one or two of these races during a meeting and he will take his chances in every handicap, even if he thinks he has got a trifle the worst of the weights.

JUDGES OF THE TRACK.
The Breeder and Sportsman says: "There has been considerable speculation in club circles for some time past as to who would act as judges during the meeting of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club at its new track at Ingleside. President A. B. Spreckels has announced the appointment of Capt. James H. Rees of Memphis and Joseph A. Murphy of Chicago, the former as presiding and the latter as associate judge. Judge Rees has for the past six years acted as associate judge and secretary of the new Memphis Jockey Club. He officiated during the past season as presiding judge at the Hawthorne Races, the Eastern American and the Harlem meeting, Chicago. Judge Murphy is quite a young man. He was for some years sporting editor of the Chicago Tribune, the former as secretary of the new Memphis Jockey Club. He acted during the past season as steward for both the St. Louis fair grounds and the New Orleans meeting last winter. He has, since the inception of the Eastern American, acted in the dual capacity of judge and secretary."

Sporting Notes.
Twenty-three errorless games have been played by Brooklyn this season. The membership of the League of American Wheelmen reached $5,021 last week.

"Sir Bill" Lange of the Chicago Baseball Club will be the writer for a San Francisco bookmaker this winter.

Archie Latham has played eleven men in the box and the Pittsburghs twelve.

Archie Latham facetiously remarks that Corbett may have a strong contention, but still he is not proof against Fitz.

The play-off between Dallas and Fort Worth for the championship of the Texas State League is a deadlock.

Capt. Thomas of Yale is writing to football captains throughout the land urging them to play their games this season under Yale-Princeton rules.

The Cornell crew has elected F. N. Freeborn, '97, captain in the 'varsity crew for the year 1895-6. He pulled an oar in that Cornell shell at Henley and was captain of the Henley crew on the resignation of R. L. Shope.

The stand on the Oakland Trotting Park which was stigmatized as being dangerous has been demolished, preparatory to erecting by all odds the handsomest and best grand stand in the State, judging from the plans prepared. There is not a starter but who is now out of form. Both Rowe and Pettinelli are not so successful as in former years. The starter, however, who can hold his form for three years is remarkable. Caldwell has been the greatest success, and he is a back number.

Faddy Purcell has challenged Billy McMillan, the Eastern welterweight, for a battle for $500 a side, and the fight is likely to come off before the Eureka Athletic Club of Washington, D. C. Puller wants the weight fixed at 145 pounds.

A writer in the Horse Review expresses the opinion that the two-minute pacer has not yet taken a mark of 2:10, and that none of the speedy ones of today, such as Robert J. Joe Patchen and John R. Gentry will be able to go in two minutes.

The London World says that in addition to Lowther park, Mr. Pierre Lorillard, the well-known American horseowner, has taken the park lodge stables at Newmarket, for three years and that he will have twenty horses in training there next summer.

Fred Taral, one of the most popular as well as one of the best jockeys that ever threw a leg across a thoroughbred, recently signed a contract to ride for Marcus Daly next season. The amount of the retaining fee was not made public, but it is certain to be well up into five figures.

Two years ago David Glendon named the Futurity winner after John Drew's successful comedy, "The Butterflies." Now Mr. Drew's leading lady has been singled out for a similar compliment. James McLaughlin has christened his filly by Mademoiselle, out of Florida, Maude Adams.

Riley Grannan, the young turf pinner, won $6000 on the knockout of the fighters in Texas. He bet $2000 to $6000 in the Eckhardt book, that being the odds laid, that the fight would not come off in Dallas. He also wagered $15,000 against America, taking the Fitzsimmons and of it.

"Yale" Murphy, late of the New Yorks, will enter the Bellevue Medical School this month, and may retire from baseball permanently. He has under consideration, however, offers from two National League teams, and also an offer from a minor league city to act as captain and manager.

Besides getting the great $20,000 national Derby of 1896 transferred there from Chicago, the St. Louis Fair association management has made an effort to attract next season all the great handicap horses on the American turf. This will be done by increasing the value of the club-members' handicaps, the great all-aged event of the meeting, from $5000 to $10,000.

After seeing a game of football in Philadelphia, Capt. Mitchell of the English cricket team said: "Oh, it's a great game. That play you call interference is wonderfully clever; it's a pretty piece of strategy and athletic skill as anything I have ever seen. Yes, I would like to see our universities at home adopt the game, and all sports and play it. I am delighted with what I have seen of American football."

Manager Foote of the Yale eleven has seen no possible chance for the Yale-Harvard football game this year. There is no change in Yale's attitude and no offer has been made for a game this fall.

"If all goes well with me for the next four or five months, I will compete in the world's international championship games at Athens, Greece, next March," declared John V. Crum, the Iowa sprinter.

"Several members of the New York Athletic Club have asked me if I would not join the team they intend to send over, but if I do I will in all probability represent the Chicago Athletic Association."

The St. James Gazette of London, referring to the defeat of the Cambridge-Oxford cricket team by the Philadelphians, remarks: "These defeats of English athletes across the Atlantic are becoming monotonous. If there is one thing we could do, we thought we could play cricket. America is now taking up that game, though it was never popular there; yet even at cricket they have contrived to be us."

It is announced that Philip J. Dwyer will sell all his stable with the exception of Handsping, Axion and Apple-gate at the end of the present season. J. Otto Donner, too, will sell at Morris Park Redskin, Bonhomme, The Native and a few yearlings. He will retire from active participation in turf matters for a year, but will keep up the Ramapo Stud and will be back again with a large stable in the future.

Many growers of Sultana raisins in Southern California are selling their cured crop from two to three cents a pound. It is only on cheap land and a good deal of it that this industry could be made profitable at these figures. Even Democratic growers pine for a little McKinley protection when brought face to face with these prices.

Reports from Arizona state that a railway train struck a bull and the entire train was thrown into the ditch by the collision. Some of the Southern California who have earnestly but unsuccessfully sought a genuine bullfight at the numerous fiestas will sincerely regret having missed this Arizona bull. That bull deserves a medal. He must have been a fighter from wayback.

Of the 21,343 survivors of the war volunteers now in soldiers' homes, 1701 are enrolled at the Pacific branch, Santa Monica. Only lack of accommodations prevents the number being increased at once. The home branch here is the most popular one of the seven, and the correspondence from there, printed this morning, predicts that it will be the shelter of the last survivors of that memorable struggle.

The momentous decision has been made, and the Episcopal diocese of California is no longer one. It will be less unwieldy after it gets into shape, but the getting into shape promises to be a work of time and tribulation, considering the multifarious aspirations for the bishopric of Southern California, and the pious but energetic wire-pulling that is being exerted to clear the way to the episcopal mansion.

And now a new question has arisen concerning the objectionable fee bill of 1885, for the County Clerk of San Bernardino has asked the Attorney-General if the section of the Political Code which provides that no fees be collected for certificates of registration is also repealed by the act of 1895. Much interest will be felt in the answer, for if all voters have to pay 25 cents for registration, it is likely to raise a particularly fluent howl from all quarters.

The business houses in Ontario were illuminated by electric lights Saturday night for the first time. Not for the first time in the history of the colony, however, for in 1885 a small experimental plant was put in by the founders of Ontario, and while no practical use was made of it, the Ontario Hotel and Ohio block were lighted up on two or three occasions. A planing mill furnished the power for the original plant. The powerful dynamo of the new plant are driven by water from San Antonio Canyon.

Some delightful piano solos were rendered by Mr. Huck and Mr. Chadwick sang charmingly. Among the throng of guests were Mrs. Mary H. An Unhappy Father.
Joseph Silver is not a happy man, for he is in the County Jail awaiting sentence to State's prison for burglary. Yet, Joseph is not altogether sad, for he rejoices over the birth of a son who first opened his eyes on this wicked world in the County Hospital where Mrs. Silver has been cared for during her confinement. Silver is yet a very young man, and his bosom swells with pride since he has become a father. It is no credit to the youngster, of course, to be the son of a convict, but the father hopes to be out of prison before the little fellow will be old enough to feel the stigma that attaches to the family name. It is Silver's purpose then to lead such a life that his son will have no reason to feel ashamed of him. Silver is the man who robbed Capt. C. E. Thom's house several months ago. He was found guilty last week, and will be sentenced today.

WHERE IS MAGUIRE?

THE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF A POLICE OFFICER.

Did He Fight a Duel and Get Killed or Drown Himself at Westlake Park?

His Hat Found Floating on the Water and His Horse and Buggy Hitched Near by.

He Spoke to Friends About Having Trouble That Had Reached the Killing Point and Made Antemortuary Requests.

Did he fight a duel?
Has he met with foul play?
Did he commit suicide?
Has some strange mishap overtaken him?

An affirmative answer to one of the five foregoing questions is what the fellow officers and friends of Policeman John F. Maguire are looking for.

Officer Maguire dropped from sight in a very mysterious manner about midnight Saturday night. There are circumstances connected with his disappearance that give his friends the gravest apprehension.

The most hopeful of them sadly shook their heads last night and remarked: "I fear poor Maguire will never be seen again alive."

This was the general sentiment expressed about the Police Station, and in truth there is every reason to believe that something very serious has befallen the well-known officer.

Friends of Maguire have remarked for some time that he has not appeared to be his former jovial self. About eight months ago he accidentally shot John Grant, one of his best friends, in the Eagle stables. Grant, though sorely wounded, eventually recovered. Maguire, although fully exonerated by the wounded man from blame for the accident, was almost crazed with grief at his friend was on a safe way to recovery.

Maguire was in better spirits after that, but fresh trouble overtook him. About the middle of May, he was accused and found guilty of sleeping on duty and temporarily suspended from the force. When he was reinstated, it was as a foot patrolman. He was an expert horseman and had been a mounted officer almost continuously for seven years. The taking away of his horse seemed to grieve him deeply, but he performed his new duties faithfully until last Saturday night.

At about 10 o'clock, when he was on duty at 8 p.m., about one hour before roll-call he telephoned to Clerk Maguire to inform his sergeant that he would not report, as he had an engagement to go to a wedding. He had not asked for a leave of absence from the Chief, as is customary, and his conduct in this regard was considered peculiar, but nothing was said about it by the sergeant, who thought there would be no harm in it. Maguire, when he reported for duty Sunday evening.

Search for Maguire was instituted, however, long before roll-call yesterday evening. The first thing that aroused suspicion was the finding of a black felt hat, like one worn by Maguire, floating in the water at the northwest corner of the lake at Westlake Park. Near by, hitched to a post, was a horse and buggy, which stood there until some time Sunday afternoon. The rig was finally identified as one belonging to the Eagle Stables, on South Broadway, and when it was returned there by an officer, it was discovered that it had been hired by Maguire about 11 o'clock Saturday night. This circumstance and the finding of the hat created genuine alarm.

The hat was almost positively identified as the one worn by Maguire Saturday evening, and remarks made by him to friends within the past few days, which at the time were taken as jest, firmly fixed the belief in the minds of some of the officers that Maguire's body was at the bottom of the lake. Still hope was had that he would report by 8 o'clock, when the watch changed, and clear up the mystery. But he did not appear, and then search for him or his body began in earnest.

Maguire's movements Saturday evening were traced and accounted for until about midnight, since which time all is mystery. About 6 o'clock Saturday evening he took a drink at the Peerless saloon, on Main street, near Second. The proprietor says he was duly sober, and exhibited a handful of gold, perhaps about $75.

About 10:30 o'clock he was in Bob Kern's Richeau saloon in the Bryson Block, where Police Secretary Ray Cottle had a conversation with him. "Ray," said Maguire to Mr. Cottle, as he took him aside, "I want to tell you something, but I can't tell you all. I am in trouble that is so serious that it has reached the killing point, and the killing may have to be done tonight. I rather think it will, and I want you to look after my body if anything should happen to me."

"Don't talk like that, Mac," said Mr. Cottle. "You are all right, and if there is anything I can do for you, rest assured it will be done. But I know you are only joking."

"No, I am in earnest. I have got to kill a man tonight, or he will kill me. I am no coward, and if he will meet me fairly, I do not fear the result. But he has more at stake than I have—he has a wife and three children, while I have no family at all—and I am afraid he will take the advantage of me. If he would meet me with a revolver I would be equal to him, but I am afraid he will use a Winchester rifle."

Maguire cried and rambled on with more of the sort of talk, but Mr. Cottle thought he had simply imbibed a little too much and was trying to be funny. Maguire was a great hand at joking, and it was hard to tell when he was in earnest. A friend of Cottle was waiting outside for him, so bidding Maguire good night and telling him to be of good cheer, he departed.

A few minutes later Maguire met William Jeffries, son of Sgt. Jeffries, at the corner of Second and Spring streets, and told him the same sort of story. He said to young Jeffries that he was in trouble. A man whom he had had trouble with in Texas was in town, and one would have to kill the other. Mr. Jeffries also thought that Maguire was slightly inebriated, and was joking.

About five minutes of 11 o'clock Judge Bean, who was going on duty as clerk at the Police Station, met Maguire on Spring street between First and Second, going in the direction of the Nadeau Hotel.

A few minutes after 11 Maguire appeared at the Eagle stables on Broadway, and asked the hostler in charge for a horse and buggy to drive to Rosedale Cemetery.

"If that is all the farther you intend to drive, and you are sure that you will be back in a few hours, you can have Comet (meaning one of the best driving horses in the stable,) but he is engaged for tomorrow, and must go out at 9 o'clock, so don't stay over time."

"All right," replied Maguire. "I will not be gone more than two or three hours at the most."
The hostler says there was no one with Maguire when he left the stable. He appeared to be sober, and in his good senses, although he evidently had been drinking a little.

Shortly before midnight, it is alleged, Maguire called at a First-street cigar stand and got a $20 bill changed for currency. This may have been before he got the buggy, however. At any rate all trace of his movements was lost after leaving the stable with the buggy.

The rig was found yesterday afternoon at Westlake Park, as already related. It had been standing there apparently all day, and perhaps through the latter portion of the previous night. The hitching strap was not run through the hole in the hitching post and tied, as is customary, but was wound around the post and tied as if it had been done hurriedly. The lines were unbuckled at the buggy end and were under the horse's feet on the ground. The dashboard was bent toward the horse, as if some person sitting in the buggy had kicked against it or braced his feet heavily against it.

The horse and buggy were found hitched near the toolhouse close to the northwest end of the lake. Near shore on the opposite side of that end of the lake was discovered at about 8 o'clock yesterday morning by a young man named Hugh Russell, a black fedora hat, floating in the water. The brim was rather wide and the size was 7 1/2. On the interior of the band was a big gouge as if a coarse cut had been made from within by some clumsy instrument. Secretary Cottle is positive that the hat is the one worn by Maguire when he last saw him.

Inquiry at Maguire's rooming place, No. 215 North Broadway, elicited the information that he had not, so far as known, been there yesterday. The bed had not been slept in since Friday night, although some one had apparently lain on it since then. Maguire's handkerchiefs were found on the table and his clothing and other effects had nothing about them to indicate that anything was wrong.

Late last evening six of the police officers and Park Foreman Fuller went to Westlake Park and started dragging for the body of Maguire. As the apparatus they had was not well suited to the work, the attempt was not successful, and the darkness also rendered the search difficult.

Unless Maguire turns up, dragging for his body will be resumed this morning.

No one could be found last night who seemed to know anything about the man Maguire said he had trouble with. He was a very good-hearted, affable fellow and seldom had trouble with any one. It may be that the trouble was over a woman, but no one knows. Maguire was gallant toward the fair sex, but did not pose as a dandy. What faults he had were of the head and not of the heart. Perhaps the worst that could be said of him was that he was a little inclined to be reckless, the shooting of his friend, Grant, being due to carelessness in the handling of his revolver.

Maguire was a native of Ireland, and is, or was, about 40 years old. He came to America before attaining his majority, and went at once to Texas where he became a cowboy and followed that occupation for some time. He came to Los Angeles in the spring of 1888 as deputy sheriff sent hither from San Antonio, Tex., to capture a fugitive from justice. He liked Los Angeles so well that he concluded to remain here. He soon secured a place on the police force as a mounted officer, his experience in the saddle especially fitting him for that duty. He has been connected with the force ever since, and has made a host of friends.

Maguire was a Knight Templar, and also an Odd Fellow. He requested a fellow-Mason several days ago to look after his body and affairs in case he should be found dead, which lends further color to the murder or suicide theory.

No blood was found about the buggy. The generally accepted theory is that he drowned himself, or else fought a duel and got killed, after which his body was sunk in the lake by his slayer. The developments of today are anxiously awaited.

KILLED HERSELF.

A Society Leader of Savannah Meets with Sudden Death.

(SPECIAL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SAVANNAH (Ga.) Oct. 12.—Miss Stella West, a prominent society leader here, accidentally shot and killed herself this afternoon at the country residence of her parents at Montgomery. The family was preparing to move into the city, and Miss West was fixing a revolver that had been presented to her for protection while in the country. She was unable to extricate the chamber, and a cartridge was discharged. The ball struck below the clavicle and glanced upward. Miss West died an hour later. She was 21 years of age, extremely pretty and a great favorite.

PASADENA.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MILFORD FISH YESTERDAY.

Pasadena suffering from a surfeit of jury trials—wretches arrested for unsanitary crimes—An interesting batch of brevities.

PASADENA, Oct. 13.—(Regular Correspondence.) The funeral of the late Milford Fish occurred this afternoon at his late residence at the corner of Mariposa and Florence streets, and called forth a large concourse of the friends of the deceased, who had gathered to participate in the last rites and follow the body to its resting place in Mountain View Cemetery. Rev. W. H. Douglas of the Baptist Church officiated and made a touching address, setting forth the lesson in the life of Mr. Fish, and delineating his character and influence on the community in which he lived, and the noble work done by him in the church in the home and in the community. The address was followed by the singing of "He is Gone," by the Harmonia Quartette, and was followed by the rendition of "He Leadeth Me," Mr. Fish's favorite hymn, which was sung by Mrs. Fish's request. After the prayer, which divine consolation was bestowed for the bereaved family and relatives, "Thy Will be Done" was sung, and then the simple services were concluded. The remains were taken to the beautiful, quiet Mountain View Cemetery, where a simple ceremony preceded their consignment to the grave. A large number of the old citizens of Pasadena, who had been intimately associated with Mr. Fish since his first coming to Pasadena, were present at the funeral, and the church which the deceased loved and of which he was a deacon was largely represented.

JURY TRIALS FOR HOBOS.

Murray, the hobo arrested for begging and vagrancy, demanded a jury trial on Saturday. The case was set for Monday. The citizens of Pasadena have had an overdose of jury trial lately, and are beginning to rebel. In Justice Merriam's court recently there was a trial consuming two days of the week, when a $250, which it was alleged, had been wrongfully killed by a certain man, who was accordingly arrested and brought before Justice Merriam, who held him to answer. A conviction was not secured, and then the man whose pig was killed brought suit for the value of the pig, and singularly enough, the Justice issued the complaint, notwithstanding the fact that it was decided that the former case was trivial. No conviction was secured in the second case, and the citizens of the town were put to the loss of time and consequent expense, which aggregated ten times the value of the pig in the first place. The jury trials have been demanded in the liquor cases, where there was not even the time for a defense to be made, and now that hobos are getting upon their dignity and demanding juries, it looks as though the business men of Pasadena will have to hire clerks to perform their legitimate private duties, while they devote themselves to civic affairs and spend the time for the trial of a hobo which could be left with perfect safety to the Justice of the Peace.

THREE BRUTAL WRETCHES.

Pasadena has of late obtained an unfavorable notice through the arrest of persons charged with the commission of crimes. Within the last few weeks one man has been held to $1000 bonds, and another to $5000 for this offense, and Saturday another was arrested, against whom the most conclusive evidence was obtained, and probably get a twenty years sentence for aggravated and flagrant bestiality. His victims are two Pasadena boys, the sons of a doctor, and the man, Nye Jervis, is an elderly man who formerly lived in South Pasadena at the residence of a maiden lady by the name of Tinkler. He is a licentious man, and has been charged with the commission of a more brutal and depraved wretch never walked on two feet and disgraced the name of man.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Miss Kate Duncan evidently has little faith in the eerie properties of the number 13, as that was the number of guests invited to the party given at her home on Kirkwood avenue Friday evening. Among the guests were Misses Mohr, Bunker, and the man, Nye Jervis, and Norton of Los Angeles, and Messrs. Polley, Howard, Vrooman, Chambers and Engelhardt.

The following are late arrivals at the Casa Grande: J. D. Thomson, wife and daughter of Philadelphia; Mrs. S. J. Gilmore and daughter of Denver, R. Mitchell of London, and the man, Nye Jervis, and family of San Diego, Mrs. P. B. Elderkin of San Francisco, Mrs. Maile Miller of St. Louis, and the man, Nye Jervis, and family of San Diego.

The new chorus choir of the Presbyterian Church led the singing at the services today very effectively. Mr. Mason, the new organist acting as director. An orchestra of four pieces has been added to the excellent musical attractions of this church.

Dr. H. K. Macomber received the sad news of the death of his father, K. W. Macomber, at Lewis, Iowa, on Saturday. Mr. Macomber was more than 80 years old, and is well known in Pasadena, having spent seven winters here with his son.

Horace M. Dobbins of Portland, Me., has purchased Mrs. Caroline Wakely's elegant residence on State street, and arrived Saturday to take possession of his new property, with his family.

Prof. Graham, supervising principal of the Pasadena schools, was elected president of the Los Angeles County Educational Society Saturday.

R. M. Greer of the First National Bank of this city, has been made vice president for Los Angeles county of the State Association of Bankers.

The lumber for the new school building on Fair Oaks avenue is expected on Monday, and then the contractor will make up for lost time.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. H. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Claypool and Mr. and Mrs. Barker, accompanied by their children spent today at Santa Monica.

H. R. Putnam and family, who have been spending some weeks in San Diego, have returned, and are stopping at the Casa Grande.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

Bishop Mora Colonizing Iowa Farmers.

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 13.—(Regular Correspondence.)

Negotiations are now pending between representatives of a colony of Iowa farmers and Bishop Mora for the purchase of a large tract of land, a portion of the College Rancho near Santa Fe. There are said to be 100 families ready to move to this county as soon as the contract for the purchase of the land can be closed. Supervisor de la Cuesta is Bishop Mora's agent in the transaction.

A daily freight service is now to be put on the Santa Barbara branch of the Southern Pacific. With the increased shipments of oil and the large quantity of beans and other products moving eastward, the every-other-day train is insufficient to handle the freight.

Seber Steele, one of the colonists who settled in the Lompoc Valley twenty years ago, has sold his 2000-acre ranch, and will move to Grapeland, San Bernardino county.

Game Warden Elliott will attempt to colonize the county with Mongolian or Oregon pheasants. It is not harmful like the quail and is equally as rare for food and affords much sport for the hunter.

The general belief in Santa Ynez that the fire at that town a week ago was the work of an incendiary, there has been feeling between certain factions and trouble of the kind has been expected.

The Santa Barbara Rifle Club has been organized with a membership of twenty. The marksmen have secured a range in Oak Park, and they will meet every two weeks for practice.

Capt. Anderson of El Monte, met with a painful accident yesterday while driving through the valley. His horse took fright at a log by the roadside, and the driver was thrown from the saddle, and injured him about the head. It was feared that he was seriously hurt, but today was reported to be much improved. Capt. Anderson is one of the wealthy residents of El Monte.

He came from New York, where he was largely interested in steamship lines on the Hudson, and still owns several fine boats on that river.

The pretty spring with its basin hollowed in the rock, and the line of the new mountain boulevard, and its picturesque rustic approaches, as well as the watering trough placed along the road with its constantly flowing stream of pure mountain water are generously provided for the use of the public.

A number of men are busily at work on a tract of land belonging to Mr. Drevfus, adjoining the schoolhouse on Mission Canyon road, getting out stone for Mr. Steele, who has the contract on the stonework for the new Pithian block. Up the bed of Mission Creek, at the rear of the Oliver place, others are carrying the big boulders which nature has so liberally strewn there for the foundations of the new street being erected on Ortega street.

The latter stone is on property belonging to the mission fathers.

CHINO.

CHINO, Oct. 13.—(Regular Correspondence.) Next Tuesday is payday for beets delivered during the month of September. For the 15,256 tons delivered, the Chino farmers will receive $62,144.32.

Plans and specifications for the two new school buildings are now open for bids. The same plans will be used for both buildings, which will be neat and attractive. They will probably be ready for occupancy by December.

Last Wednesday evening a large delegation of Ontario Old Fellows visited the Chino lodge and exemplified the Chino lodge and exemplified the Chino lodge and exemplified the Chino lodge.

The overcrowded condition of the new school building will be relieved next Monday. A part of the children, in charge of Miss Lillian Boyd of Rochester, will be placed in the old central building. Sixty children will be sent to the new school.

J. E. Ann, who mysteriously disappeared ten days ago, has not yet been found. A man answering his description, and who had been seen in the vicinity of the school, was taken to the police station, but he refused to give any information.

The suit of George Gifford vs. Mrs. H. A. Greely was tried in the Justice's court Saturday. Gifford sued for $1000 the price of a span of mules. The case was decided in his favor.

Charles Fox is confined to his bed from the effects of an accident received in the sugar factory recently. While at work in the Steffen building he fell, in some way wrenching his back. For some time he has been unable to get up, but is now slowly recovering.

J. T. Jackman is slowly recovering from several recent hemorrhages. The ladies of the Reading Room Association have postponed their social until Monday evening, October 28.

M. R. Levy will open a clothing store in the room soon to be vacated by R. A. Loomis.

There was born, on Wednesday, October 9, to the wife of James A. Robey, a girl.

B. K. Galbreath shot a fine large buck during his recent mountain hunt. He has preserved the head and antlers.

ORANGE COUNTY.

INTEREST MANIFESTED AT THE SANTA ANA RACETRACK.

A Challenge to Drill Between Military Companies—Meeting of the Orange County Fruit Exchange—Brief News Notes and Personal.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 13.—(Regular Correspondence.) Although the day was Sunday, there was much life at the racetrack this morning among the blooded steppers. The races began Tuesday and no time is being lost by the owners of the horses in getting them in the best possible condition for their contests.

A number of the flyers arrived this morning, among whom was Irene Crocker, so well known on the Santa Ana track. All the new arrivals were taken immediately out to the track, where they were given comfortable quarters.

Silkwood, Daisy Wood and Carol will be home tomorrow (Monday) and will be familiar figures on the track almost every morning during the week.

Interest in the races is now increasing and from this date on everything in Santa Ana is liable to be of secondary importance to the track events.

A prize of a silver cup will be given to the winner. In the evening Co. G will give the grand drill for the entertainment of its visitors in blue and other friends.

ORANGE COUNTY FRUIT EXCHANGE. At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Orange County Fruit Exchange, held in the office of the association at Orange last Monday, the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: W. S. Derby, Orange; D. H. Thoms, Fullerton; L. Rogers, Anaheim; I. L. Collins, Villa Park; A. H. Cargill, Brookhurst; L. B. Benchley, Placentia.

After the election of the above, the meeting adjourned to Tuesday, October 15, at which time an organization will be effected and other business of importance transacted.

BELIEVES IN CO-OPERATION. The following paragraph from the Anaheim Independent not only evidences the fact that paper is a strong believer in co-operation, but also the results of the great majority of fruit-growers in Orange county:

"It is a burning shame and a disgrace to every man who has a dozen orange trees or a dozen acres of orange trees that he does not come forward like a man and support a movement which not only benefits himself, but the fruit-growers, but is destined to directly emancipate from the clutches of commission men every grower of oranges in the county."

It is a fight of California fruit-growers against Eastern commission men, and only a little over half of the orange-growers alone are to be seen in time to be a victory for the tillers of the soil, but how much earlier will the fruit-growers be able to get their oranges to market if all orange-growers and all other fruit-growers come out like veritable signers of the Declaration of Independence, WANTED TO MARRY.

Story of a Young Couple Seeking Matrimony.

"If you please sir, we would like to get married."

These were the words that were addressed to Clerk Bean at the police station shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The speaker was a young man not much over 20 and he was accompanied by a buxom Scotch lass apparently his senior by several years.

Clerk Bean looked at the young man with a good deal of unconcern. He was years ago a justice of the peace in Wyoming and could marry a couple on application with as much grace and dispatch as an untamed cowboy would exercise in riding his horse into a saloon and shooting the corks off of bottles.

The prospect of tying a nuptial knot was considered by the judge with as much coolness as he would show in asking the name of the newly-arrested drunk. After looking at the would-be bride and groom for a moment he said he would marry them, subject to the approval of the next Legislature. He told them, however, that they should have to procure a marriage license first. They promised to get the marriage license next day and return to the judge, to have the knot tied. Talor Stierweke had the bridal chamber ready last night. Judge Bean wore his grimy smile and a white necktie, and everything was capable for the wedding, but the loving couple did not return. They probably repented of their notion to get married when they got sober. They gave their names as O. T. (alias Kid) Linson and Sarah J. Morris.

DIED OF DIABETES.

A Young Machinist Found Dead in His Bed.

Coroner Campbell held an inquest yesterday afternoon at Sharp & Samson's morgue, over the remains of Louis Gerald, who was found dead in bed in his room at No. 188 East Fifth street, Saturday morning. Gerald had been ill for several days, and an autopsy showed that the immediate cause of his death was diabetes. Gerald was 25 years old, and came to Los Angeles about two years ago from Kingston, Canada. He was a machinist by trade, and was employed at the Baker Iron Works. His father is said to be a conductor on one of the railroads running out of Chicago, and telegrams have been sent there to ascertain what disposition he desires to have made of his son's body. Thus far no reply has been received.

TAKEN OUT OF PAWN.

More Trouble Brewing for Surveyor de Laveaux.

Ex-United States Deputy Surveyor Gustave de Laveaux has not yet got through with his legal squabble with J. Marion Brooks, and now comes word from San Bernardino that more trouble is brewing for the much-abused surveyor. The Times correspondent at San Bernardino writes as follows:

"Two months ago F. C. Finkle loaned a surveyor's instrument to Gustave de Laveaux, who took it to Los Angeles, and, after writing several times and receiving no answer, Finkle went there to look the matter up, finding his instrument in a pawnshop. He reclaimed his property and brought it home last night, while the pawnbroker was at work getting out papers for Laveaux for getting money by false pretenses."

A Joker Juggled.

A man who gave his name as Jack Murphy changed the lines on a citizen's horse on Main street, between First and Second streets, last night, so that the right rein would pull the left bit, and the left rein the right bit. The citizen, whose name was not learned, remonstrated, and Murphy struck him in the face. Officers Lenhausen and Sheets were called, and Murphy started to run, at the same time crying "stop him," as if he were pursuing some one, instead of being pursued. He ran up First street and down Mott alley. He became winded, however, and was overhauled by Officer Lenhausen, who escorted him to the police station, where he was booked for malicious mischief.

MONEY TO THROW AWAY.

A FINANCIAL SYSTEM THAT WILL GIVE EACH TWENTY DOLLARS.

The Church of the New Era Listens to an Address on a Plan to Remedy the Present Financial Depression, by ex-Judge R. M. Widney.

The congregation of the Church of the New Era listened to an address by ex-Judge R. M. Widney on a system of national finance, which, the speaker said, would remedy nearly all our present financial difficulties and put money in everybody's pocket, yesterday afternoon in Illinois Hall.

"If you wish to free yourself from the power of the Rothschilds," said the speaker, "you must adopt a system of finance which will admit of an increase in the circulating medium. My suggestion is that currency notes to the amount of $20 per capita be issued. Then, if the financial kings succeed in cornering the gold and silver of the world, there will still be left the currency notes as a circulating medium."

The speaker announced, after he had spoken nearly two hours, that he would deliver the rest of the address next Sunday afternoon, and that he would be pleased to answer questions concerning his ideas on finance, although he supposed there were thousands of questions he could not answer. One of the congregation suggested that finance was an important factor in church management and that it would not be a bad idea to take up a collection. A collection was thereupon taken up and W. C. Bowman, preacher of the church, announced that the amount realized was $22.25.

An old gentleman with long hair and spectacles that rested on a sharp nose was of the opinion that when the gold reserve is drawn upon too heavily it would be a good plan to prop it up with notes not redeemable in gold and not bearing interest, but legal tender. He thought also that if a man bought some blankets in Scotland it wasn't necessary for him to send gold over there, but he could let his bank tender to the matter with a draft on a Scotch bank. Some one wanted to know if the American bank wouldn't be in the same fix as the bank-buyer; the old gentleman didn't know, and the query hung suspended in the clouds.

A young man with black hair, who looked as though he would grab a dollar as quick as any one, rose to ask what was to become of the great common through if the goldbugs cornered all the $20 pieces in circulation. The principal speaker replied: "Let us have another issue of currency." The young man said that sounded nice, but he wished to know how long the government was supposed to keep up the lack of supplying the people with $20 pieces. The principal speaker said: "Oh, well, it is not likely that such a question will ever arise in the practical operation of my plan," and the young man sat down, apparently satisfied.

Dr. Bowman wished to be informed why the speaker had settled on $20 as the right amount of circulating medium for each one to have, and the principal speaker said there had to be some amount adopted, and he thought $20 was as good as any. Dr. Bowman then wished to know what the principal speaker considered the function of money, and received the answer, "To circulate as a representative of value." That suited Mr. Bowman all right, but he disconcerted the lecturer by asking him if he believed in interest. The ex-judge is a financier who has been intimately associated with interest bearing projects, and he didn't care to commit himself. He said he supposed interest was all right, but that he would answer the question, and some others that he was not then prepared for, at the next meeting.

Then the congregation broke up, and everybody went out into the cold world clutching in his hand, or his pocket, respectively an imaginary $20, and pinning for that glad day when we'll all have money to throw to the dogs.

SMOKED TO DEATH.

An Engineer's Carelessness Costs Four Men Their Lives.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WEBSTER CITY (Iowa), Oct. 12.—Four men were suffocated by gas and smoke in a coal mine two and a half miles from Story City last night.

The men were in the mine just at closing time. The engineer had built a big fire in the furnace, which hoists the cage and left for supper. While he was gone the timber adjacent to the furnace caught fire, and the flames reached the cable attached to the cage. When the engineer returned he attempted to hoist the cage with the men, but the cable broke and they fell to the bottom. The fall was not over three feet, and they were uninjured. The mine was filling with smoke from the burning wood, and there was no other mode of egress for them.

George Payne was foreman of the night gang of miners, and they followed him to one of the cells, thinking they would bank themselves in and prevent the smoke from entering. The cell was only 100 feet from where the wood was burning, but before they could enter and build the barricade they were suffocated.

CHINESE ACTRESSES.

A Legal Squabble at Atlanta Over Nine Mongol Beauties.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) ATLANTA (Ga.), Oct. 12.—The nine Chinese beauties who were taken from the Chinese village at the exposition last week to the ground that they were brought to this country and detained here for immoral purposes, were before Judge Newman on habeas corpus proceedings at the instance of two laundrymen in the city who declared that the women were held as slaves at the exposition.

The girls, who said that they were actresses in China and hold similar positions in the Chinese village here, testified that they all came to this country voluntarily. Judge Newman remanded the girls to the custody of the concessionaries.

FOUGHT WITH FIRE.

Three Lives Lost and a Fourth Perilously Endangered.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) WINNIPEG (Man.), Oct. 12.—Four people were fatally injured near here while fighting prairie fires last night. Edward St. Germain, aged 12 years, was engaged with an elder brother in an endeavor to save several haystacks, when their clothing caught fire. Edward was burned to a crisp, and the elder brother so badly burned that he cannot recover.

At another point some Canadian Pacific Railway employees were endeavoring to drive back the flames from railroad property. Edward Lukyan, a known man, and a foreman, name unknown, were surrounded by the flames and both perished. It is feared other fatalities from prairie fires have occurred, as fires were raging on all sides last night.
